A BEAUTIFUL INCIDENT.

A young man who had been on a three days, debauch wandered into the reading-room of a hotel where he was well known, sat down and stared moodily into the street. Presently a little girl of about 10 years came in and looked timidly about the room. She was dressed in rags, but had a sweet, intelligent face that could scarcely fail to excite sympathy. There were five persons in the room, and she went to each begging. One gentleman gave her a five-cent piece, and she went to the gentleman spoken of and asked him for a penny, adding: "I haven't had anything to eat for a whole day." The gentleman was out of humor, and he said crossly: "Don't bother me; I haven't had anything to eat in three days." The child opened her eyes in sheer wonder and stared at him for a moment, and then walked slowly toward the door. She turned the knob, and then, after hesitating a few seconds, walked up to him, and, gently laying the five cents on his knee, said, with a tone of true girlish pity in her voice: "If you haven't had anything to eat for three days you take this and go and buy you some bread. Perhaps I can get some more somewhere." The young man blushed to the roots of his hair, lifting the child in his arms, kissed her two or three times in delight. Then he took her to the persons in the room and those in the corridor and office, asking contributions himself, giving all the money he had with him. He succeeded in raising over $40, and sent the little one on her way rejoicing.

CARVING IN AND OUT OF A CYCLONE.

A gentleman has been vaunting his great, his unparalleled skill as a carver.

"I remember once," he says, "when I was in the East Indies, I carved a duck—and a duck isn't an easy thing to carve, let me tell you—I carved a duck on ship-board during a cyclone that blew so hard, by Jove, that the people at dinner had to eat lying flat on the floor and holding on to the legs of the stationary table. That's the sort of a carver I am."

Impressed by this story, his host, the next time this expert carver was dining out, asks him to carve the fowl.

The expert carver applies himself to the task with vigor, but with a deplorable lack of success. His face grows red as any beet, and great beads of perspiration stand out upon his forehead.

"And yet there is no cyclone blowing!" remarks one of the diners, solemnly.

"By Jove, that's it!" exclaimed the carver; I never could carve when it was calm. It takes a cyclone to evoke the resources of my nature. That's the sort of a carver I am!"

Berlioz, the composer, when he was in love, said to the adored one: "Ariel, I adore you, I bless you—in a word, I love you more than the weak French tongue can say. Give me an orchestra of one hundred performers, and a chorus of one hundred and fifty voices, and I will tell you."

THE EVILS OF PAINTING And their Remedy.

"It has been said with much truth, too, that house painting might, with study and acquirement of taste, resume its rank as a liberal art."—Painters' Manual.

Believing the above to be true, A. B. KERR has now re-organized his system of working the business in Honolulu. In the first place he has secured the services of that celebrated artist, Mr. Max Korns, formerly of San Francisco, whose work in the line of plain and decorative paper-hanging, frescoing, &c., is up to the present time unsurpassed, and on these Islands has never been equalled. For house painting jobs first-class mechanics only will be employed. In future patrons can depend upon my filling every order on the most scientific basis known to the trade.

The Sign Painting and Lettering department will be permanently presided over by Mr. GEO. STRATMEYER, (further comment unnecessary.) P.S.—Send for designs of frescos for ceiling and cornices. Something new; and if you want any glass put in call at
